Operation: "Booklift"
Alexander Mack Memorial Library

"Bridgewater's Facts of Life"

For many the Crusade of Excellence recently closed was the finest organized development effort of Bridgewater College. Close to $790,000 was raised in cash and pledges with approximately 78% of the pledged amount already paid. In the minds of not a few is the feeling that "the Crusade is over," "Bridgewater doesn't need any further help."

Nothing could be further from the truth. Not so well known are certain "Facts of Life:"

1. While a grand figure of $790,000 was pledged there will be the natural shrinkage of cancelled and arrears payments. Thirty thousand dollars each year went to refund the debt on the gymnasium.

2. The proposed Home Economics Building is an absolute necessity if Bridgewater is to continue in this field.

3. The college has a total asset value of over $4,700,000 and a net worth of $3,006,000.

4. Student aid annually runs to approximately $45,000, of which $6,000 comes from endowment. The college should have $100,000 annually available for student aid.

All these and more are involved in Bridgewater's "Facts of Life." Every alumnus and friend must know that there is no turning back, no treading of water, no let up in the support that we must give Bridgewater College. We cannot stand still—the Crusade goes on—in a never-ending quest for excellence.

“Operation -- Booklift”

Alexander Mack Memorial Library Move

September 18, 1963

In a corner of the old library boxes of books are tied and ready for transportation to their new home.

THAT FATEFUL DAY, “B” Day, arrived on September 18, the first day of classes, warm and overcast. It was the DAY for “Operation — Booklift” when the college library would move from the basement of Cole Hall to the new, spacious Alexander Mack Memorial Library across the campus.

In four hours and nine minutes it was an accomplished fact. More than 50,000 volumes were moved from three sources in three buildings to their new home. Besides the major collections in the old library, approximately 10,000 more books stored in the old gym and the volumes from the science reading room in Bowman Hall were incorporated in the new library.

A view of the old library in the basement of Cole Hall before the historic move.

Miss Agnes Kline, librarian for many years, has the honor of placing first books on the shelves of the new library with Mr. Orland Wages, new librarian, assisting out of the cartons especially made for the "Booklift."

Mr. Orland Wages, Bridgewater's new librarian, engineered the successful move without a hitch. A veteran of college library moving in two colleges in Texas, Mr. Wages had worked for a month cataloguing and tying certain older collections. He secured over one hundred specially constructed cardboard cartons with cut-out handles at either end to carry the books.

Since "Operation — Booklift" came on the first day of classes, a holiday or work-day was declared with students and faculty pitching in to make possible the "Four Hour Miracle." Mr. Wages met with the faculty and assigned specific responsibilities of supervision. With Miss Marba Hart, Student Senate president, he outlined procedures and program of the Big Move.

Marba Hart, student president, assigning "Booklift" jobs to students and faculty assembled in Cole Hall at 8:00 a.m. The librarian has just demonstrated methods of handling books.

At eight o'clock on Wednesday morning the entire student body and faculty met in the Cole Hall auditorium for last-minute instructions and directions by Miss Hart and Mr. Wages.

... 10:00 a.m. ... Students line up outside Cole Hall to go in rear basement door to get their box of books to start "Operation — Booklift."

In the division of labor, the football squad was assigned the large cartons of stored books in the old gym and the carrying of furniture. Lines formed outside the rear entrance of the old library, picked up cartons of books filled by other students, and left by the main door of the library, proceeding down College Street to the new building.

Even on crutches, "Chuck" Decker, hurt in a summer accident, helps carry books with a coed carrying the other crutch.

Whether it was a box of books or a table, someone at the front door of the new library directed them to the proper place.

Time out for rest and fellowship. The inevitable... boy meets girl.

Football squad members get boxes of books stored in old gym from coaches Gunsten and Myers as superintendent of buildings, Paul Phibbs, oversees the removal.

All cartons were marked by color for the right floor. Labels on the carton indicated the right stack and shelf. Arriving at the new library, guides directed the tandem of students to the right floor and stack.

Just to be sure of placement, a squad of book spotters double-checked the books on the new shelves for correctness and right sequence.

President Bowman joins "Operation — Booklift" by assisting Trudy Wimmer Gresham with a box of books.

East lawn, between Rebecca and Cole Halls, served as picnic area for the lunch break.

Empty cartons are returned to the old library through the window for reloading.

"Hurrah! ... last book is placed on shelf and "Operation — Booklift" is completed."

While no "world's records" were broken for time (in fact, Mr. Wages stressed the idea of "taking your time"), no books were dropped, no book dye stains, no confusion ensued.

Dean Boitnott, drawings in hand, supervises the placement of furniture by students.

The students and faculty proudly present the Alexander Mack Memorial Library and invite you to visit it as early as possible. It is now open approximately 71 hours a week including 2-5 p.m. on Sunday.

Time out was taken for a refreshment break on the lawn and a picnic lunch for all. However, some "eager booklifters" took but a short lunch period and were back at their joyful task. Some students made as high as twenty-three round trips between dropping the empty carton in the window of the old library and delivering their books to the Alexander Mack Memorial Library.

At the end of "Operation — Booklift" there were many tired feet and weary backs, but it was a good feeling on the part of all. It had been done and the new library was open for business next morning with the same books but in a new, spacious home.

B. C. Students in Honors and Seminar Courses

Two variations of the Bridgewater College curriculum are gaining in popularity. Three departments are conducting more informal seminars for advanced students. The Chemistry Department has one as has the Psychology Department. The History Department is conducting two, one for juniors and one for seniors.

Six advanced students are engaged in honors courses in a variety of subjects majoring in economics, music, psychology and sociology.

Glee Clubs Present "Messiah"

The Bridgewater College Glee Clubs, augmented by orchestrations by students, faculty, and community, will again this year give two presentations of Handel's "Messiah." The first is tentatively scheduled for Cole Hall, Friday evening, December 13, at 8:00 p.m. However, there is a possibility that this performance will be shifted to a nearby town. The second traditional performance will be given Sunday evening, December 15, at 8:00 p.m. in the College Street Church.

B. C. Freshman On Award Scholarship

A freshman from Bedford, Virginia, Benjamin B. Brown, is attending Bridgewater College this year with the benefit of an $800 scholarship which he received as the top award in the 16th annual Wildlife Essay Contest in the State of Virginia. Among some 13,694 essays submitted by high school juniors and seniors on the general theme of wildlife conservation, Ben's essay on "The Importance of Conservation Education in the School Curriculum" was judged the best.

Not only did Benjamin win the top award as a senior of the Bedford (Va.) High School but a year earlier, as a member of the high school junior class, he won a top award valued at $50. He is a history major with an eye on law or teaching history.

LYNNE BARBARA SMELTZER

January 6, 1945-November 26, 1963

As a climax to the nation's tragedy, Bridgewater College had its own. Returning home for the Thanksgiving holidays, Lynne B. Smeltzer, a freshman from Metuchen, N. J., was killed and Benjamin J. Stack, a sophomore of Manville, N. J., was hospitalized, in an auto accident near their home.

Representing the college at the Memorial Service on November 29, was Mack D. Bowman '53 BA, nephew of the college president.

Lynne, looking toward a major in marine biology, had chosen Bridgewater she wrote, "because in a small college such as Bridgewater College, one receives the personal attention and encouragement that is of utmost importance in a successful college career My father who attended William and Mary College is responsible for my interest in Bridgewater. He participated in athletic activities in competition with Bridgewater and has given me excellent reports as to the caliber of the student body and faculty."

The college and alumni family express to the parents and friends of Lynne Smeltzer their heartfelt sympathy.

Faculty In Research Programs

Six B. C. faculty members are carrying on current research programs while fifteen members during the past ten years were engaged in original investigations or the composition of scholarly treatises. More than thirty such projects engaged the interest of the fifteen faculty members.

At the present time Dr. Robert Burns is continuing his investigation of the American opossum; Dr. Lowell Heisey is furthering his N. S. F. sponsored plant hormone research; Dr. Elsworth Kyger continues study of the Pennsylvania Dutch Dialects in the Shenandoah Valley. Dr. John C. Miller, associate professor of English and a life-long student of Edgar Allen Poe, continues his study of the Letters and Documents about Poe; Dr. Harry Jopson is working on the Ecology of the Shenandoah River; and Dr. Frances Silliman investigates the Embryology of the Showy Orchid — Orchis Spectabilis L.

More than a dozen alumni across the nation are engaged in various types of research. In a future issue these will be listed. If you or some other alumnus is so engaged, please let the Alumni office know.

SCA Deputations Preparing for Churches

Several SCA deputation teams, directed by Carol McDaniels '64 and Mable Lou Wakeman '65 and supervised by Professor Robert McFadden, are making plans for programs in local churches. Teams in preparation include those in drama, worship, foreign students and debate with emphasis this year on visiting churches in the Maryland districts.

Students Focus On Human Relations

Bridgewater students were led by Rev. Heslip Lee, executive director of the Virginia Council on Human Relations, in a three-day "FOCUS ON HUMAN RELATIONS," November 11-13.

Mr. Lee, a native of Polk County, Georgia, and educated at Mercer University and Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, has done an outstanding work in human relations, especially in the tensions between races. He met with formal classes, groups, dorm sessions, and general meetings open to the college and community.

Russian Churchmen Visit Campus

Six representatives of the Russian Orthodox Church visited the Bridgewater campus the last of August on the first of the exchange between the Orthodox Church and the Church of the Brethren. Though the college was not in session, the members of the delegation were entertained in an informal reception and were house guests of some faculty members and friends in the community.

In the Brethren delegation which recently returned from a similar visit in Russia, two alumni were included, Dr. Raymond R. Peters and Dr. W. Harold Row. An account of this visit to Russia will be found on page 18.

Lambda Society Hears Pasco Bowman '55BA

The Bridgewater College Lambda Society, a campus honor society, was addressed by Pasco Middleton Bowman II, a New York attorney, at its October dinner meeting in the Stonewall Jackson Hotel, Staunton.

Mr. Bowman, a 1955 graduate, is practicing law with Cravath, Swaine and Moore, a leading Wall Street firm. He studied law at N. Y. U. on a Root-Tilden scholarship. Later he studied the British Restrictive Trade Practices Act at the London School of Economics on a Fulbright Scholarship.

Two sophomores, Virginia Flory, Milroy, Pa., and Lila Williams, Manassas, Va., were received this fall into the Society as associate members.

Visiting Professors on Campus

Among the visiting professors and lecturers on the Bridgewater campus during the fall have been Ferenc Nagy, from Hungary, as a Visiting Scholar under the University Center; Rev. Bryan Greene of England; and former professor Nevin W. Fisher, Music Department, Elizabethtown College, who presented two recitals. Other visiting scholars scheduled for the future include Mortimer J. Adler, in philosophy, on March 25, at 10:00 a.m. in Cole Hall.

I. B. M. Comes To B. C.

Automation in part came to the Bridgewater College campus with the installation of International Business Machine equipment in late summer.

The I. B. M. machines included three pieces: a #026 Printing Card Punch; a #82 Card Sorting Machine and a #402 Accounting Machine. The equipment was installed in the small room at the foot of the stairs on the ground floor of Founders Hall. The Registrar, Miss Donna L. Miller and the secretary to the Dean, Mrs. Janet E. Stepp, have taken some training in the operation of the new equipment.

At present, the system is used in the registering of students from the time of their acceptance, recording parents' names and addresses, courses, campus addresses, religious preferences and the like.

The equipment, leased from the I. B. M., will find greater use by other departments of the college as time goes on.

Last Chance To Aid Crusade

All active effort to secure pledges and additional gifts to the successful Crusade for Excellence will end December 31, 1963.

College and Crusade officials have designated this date as the last date for recording additional pledges or opportunity of adding to an already-made pledge. Those still desiring to designate their pledge to the Library phase of the Crusade should have their pledge in to the college by December 31. Those desiring to add to their gift to raise their Crusade contribution to a higher share or level should also do so before the end of this calendar year. Many alumni and friends will continue to make payments on their Crusade pledge for the next several years.

Beginning January 1, 1964, Bridgewater College will initiate a new recording system and one-year pledge program in their long-range Development program to attain four million dollars by 1970. With almost one-fourth of it realized in the Crusade campaign, the next step is the securing of sufficient funds for the Home Economics Building and retiring the debt service on bonds and loans.

All alumni and friends are being urged to continue their excellent financial support of the college by renewing their paid-up pledge for the next 12 months on the same high level as during the Crusade.

Dinner Closes Crusade

Bridgewater's Crusade for Excellence closed with a victory dinner, November 1, at the Belle Meade Restaurant. Dr. Paul Bowman, Crusade General Chairman, reported that several thousand people had served in the campaign and that over four thousand contributors had shared in the campaign with some 1500 shareholders.

President Warren Bowman in the "thank-you" dinner expressed appreciation on the part of the college to many people who helped to make the Crusade a success. Among the general leadership and top shareholders invited, he cited a number for their services. Trustees and wives were also in attendance at the dinner, presided over by R. Douglas Nininger, chairman of the Trustee Board.

HOME EC. BUILDING PROGRAM APPROVED

The College Trustee Board on November 2, gave approval for the launching of the construction of the Home Economics Building as soon as the total cost was in sight.

This much-needed facility has been in the drawing-board stage for the past ten years. Recently plans were revised and the trustees suggested possible scaling down if necessary. The cost is estimated at $125,000, of which approximately $35,000 has already been contributed by the women of the region. An additional $20,000 may be realized in the sale of property owned by the college. There is an immediate need for approximately $75,000 to insure the construction within the year.

Church Home Under Construction

Construction of the "Bridgewater Home for Aging," a half million dollar project, is under way with the groundbreaking ceremony taking place on Sunday, November 10.

The Home, while not a part of the college program, is being built on land adjacent to the college farm and near the campus. It is being developed as a campus community on 37 acres north of Dinkel Avenue and will be designed for retired, aging and infirm men and women.

The first unit will be a two-story brick structure for 60 residents. This home is being sponsored by three Virginia and two West Virginia districts of the Church of the Brethren. Dr. Jacob S. Huffman '33BA, Dayton, is chairman of the board of trustees and Charles D. Lantz, Broadway, is chairman of the building committee.

Men's Dorm Underway

A new men's dormitory, designed as a companion building to Wright Hall, is now under construction on the site of the old North Hall. The new residence will cover 35,000 square feet with four floors including basement and will house 150 men and a director of residence. A court will be formed between Wright Hall and the new dormitory adjacent to Bowman Hall.

The low base bid of $439,948 was made by the Nielsen Construction Company of Harrisonburg, Davis and McClintock the architects. It is being financed with a loan from the Housing and Home Finance Agency of the federal government. Steel girders are in and a major portion of the exterior brick laid. It will be completed for use next fall.

B. C. Receives A. E. C. Grant

The Bridgewater College Department of Chemistry and Physics just received a grant of $4,849 from the Atomic Energy Commission to purchase a plutonium-beryllium neutron source and some equipment for advanced training in nuclear science including a new chromatography scanning system and an electrophoresis unit.

This grant is the second one received from the A. E. C. in the past two years. The materials and equipment secured by these two grants enable the departments to do as advanced work in nuclear science at any college or university in Virginia with the exception of V. P. I., Virginia, and William and Mary.

Daleville Hall Dedicated, Oct. 5

In a simple but meaningful service Daleville Hall, the new residence for women, was dedicated on Homecoming Day, October 5, following the football game.

The Assistant Dean of Students, Miss Margaret Flory, presided at the brief program held on the front steps of the new building. After the introductions of the architect, contractor, and chairman of the building committee, Mr. R. Douglas Nininger, chairman of the Board of Trustees, accepted the building and turned over the key to the administration. President Warren D. Bowman gave the dedicatory statement with an expression of appreciation for the heritage of Daleville College which the new dormitory commemorates.

Mr. Cecil C. Ikenberry concluded the program with an inspiring prayer of dedication.

Following the program the residence director, Mrs. Bewley, and the 105 young women residing in Daleville Hall, were hostesses for an open house concluded by refreshments on the patio.

Nine Rooms Reserved in Daleville

In the program to furnish the rooms in Daleville Hall, new residence for women, nine individuals or families have already reserved a room costing $400. Several others have also indicated their interest or intention of memorializing a loved one or perpetuating the Daleville College heritage by this means. An attractive pamphlet has been published and is available on request. Gifts for this purpose should be sent in at once, designating the room desired.

Alumni Self-Study Begins

For the first time in Bridgewater history, the alumni are taking a long look at themselves in a long-range comprehensive self-study, authorized by the Alumni Board of Directors.

Appointed by Alumni President Everette L. May '34BA to the General Committee to make the self-study are chairman, Dr. Herman L. Horn '24BA, Roanoke County Superintendent of Schools; Fay Jaynes Reubush '49BA, Rockingham County Guidance Director; Otis D. Kitchen '53BS, William Fleming High School (Roanoke, Va.) music director; Dr. John W. Martin '47BA, B. C. professor of chemistry; Carl O. McDaniels '51BA, Am. Guidance and Personnel Assn., Assoc. Dir.

At their first meeting, November 15-16, the committee discussed at length the objectives of the college and the alumni's role in relation to these objectives. Organizational procedures and plans were worked out, outlining a schedule for preliminary work.

Four sub-committees with chairmen were appointed to make intensive study in related areas. They include: A. The Role of the Alumni and College, chairman, Otis Kitchen; B. Alumni Records and Communication, chairman, Fay J. Reubush; C. Organizational Structure of the Alumni Association, chairman, Carl O. McDaniels; D. The Program of the Alumni Association, chairman, John W. Martin.

It is anticipated that each B. C. alumnus will be contacted by the Committee with an Alumni Self-Study and Evaluation Questionnaire to be filled out and returned in January, 1964. Every alumnus should be on the look-out for this important survey questionnaire to be filled out immediately and returned to the Alumni Office.

In all probability the alumni self-study will take at least a year.

Campus Land-Mark Gives Way To Library

In the inevitable march of progress, one of the oldest land-marks on the Bridgewater College campus came down this summer to make way for the new Alexander Mack Memorial Library. Known by such names as "the Yount Home," "the McCann residence," "the President's home," and the "Administration Annex," the residential property on East College Street, adjacent to the College church and in front of Founders Hall, was erected in 1896 by Bridgewater's first president, Walter B. Yount. He erected an eight-room house, later adding a study and an enclosed porch.

The house was well constructed and was the first residence in Bridgewater to be equipped with a central hot water heating system, with bathing and toilet facilities, and a septic-tank disposal system.

The property was purchased by S. N. McCann, former missionary and B. C. teacher. At his death in 1917 it was transferred to the use of the college with the purchase being made in 1918 from the McCann estate. As "the President's Home," President and Mrs. Paul H. Bowman and family resided in the house until his retirement from the presidency, June 30, 1946. President and Mrs. J. I. Baugher occupied this home during the years of his presidency, 1946-48. With the coming of President Warren Bowman, a new modern home for the president was constructed and the original home converted to the "Administration Annex." From 1949 to this summer, housed in the building were the treasurer's office, the S. E. Regional Church office, the alumni office for a time, and other student offices.

The workmen, in razing the property, set off a concealed bell system which was a minor mystery until it was learned that the Regional office had simply installed a buzzer system between their offices.

"This old house, the home of college presidents for nearly four decades, served generations as home, study, office, classroom, guest house, tea room, reception center, information headquarters, and custodian of countless visions and dreams," stated president-emeritus Paul H. Bowman.

The house was torn down, piece by piece, and the ground leveled and landscaped for the south side of the new library.

Presidents' former home and more recently "Administration Annex" in the process of being torn down to be landscaped for Alexander Mack Memorial Library, looming in the background.

Summer Science Program For Youth A Success

The first summer science training program for high-ability secondary school students held on the Bridgewater campus was highly successful. The program, supported by a grant from the National Science Foundation, ran for five weeks, June 17 to July 19, 1963, and was directed by Dr. John W. Martin, B. C. professor of chemistry.

The program was designed for talented students who have limited educational opportunities. Inquiries came from 180 students, primarily from the smaller high schools, with 88 completed applications filed. On the basis of grades, recommendations and auto-biographical sketches, 22 students were accepted. Ten boys and twelve girls came from twenty different high schools in six different states.

During the five weeks, the course outline included daily lectures, study and library work, laboratory experimentation, and occasional field trips. Besides the leadership of college science professors, the participants heard lectures by scientists from industrial and other educational centers. In a final evaluation, better than 80% made good to excellent progress with 4 or 5 being outstanding. Of the 20% ranked lower, inadequate background was apparent, but by the end of the five-weeks program, a portion of this difference was overcome. Because of the need on the part of the students, future programs may include a lecture course on mathematics.

The college is convinced the N. S. F. Program for high-ability secondary school students is extremely valuable, and it is hoped that the Foundation will continue its support of such a program in the future.

Parents' Day Brings Hundreds To Campus

THE 1963 VERSION of Parents' Day brought more than five hundred fathers, mothers, grandparents, brothers, and sisters to the campus. They came from seven states and the District of Columbia and from as far away as New Jersey and North Carolina.

Students also took the opportunity to show their parents over the campus, visiting the Alexander Mack Memorial Library and other buildings of interest. During the noon hour the families were guests of the college at lunch in the cafeteria.

Prof. John W. Martin has a conference with a parent.

Parents register in Gym foyer on arriving on campus. Students provide complimentary tickets, name tags and programs.

In the afternoon parents attended the football game with Gallaudet College as guests of the college. Fathers of members of the football squad donned jerseys numbered as their sons' shirts and sat in a reserved section. The B. C. team obliged the parents with a 26-14 win while the cross-country team racked up a win over Catholic University.

The day ended with the drama department presenting the three-act play "The Late Christopher Bean" to the delight of parents, relatives and students.

Held on Saturday, October 19, the day was devoted to more informal activities than assemblies, speeches and the like. Registration and coffee hour was held in the new gymnasium from 9:30 to 11 a.m. when visiting parents could meet the faculty and students. Classes were dismissed at 10 o'clock to permit the students and faculty to join in the coffee hour. Beginning at 11 all faculty members were in their offices and opportunity was given for parents to have private conferences with the faculty of their choice.

Fathers of B. C. football players, wearing same numerals as sons, relax at half-time in their reserved section.

MacLeod, Famed Scot, in 1964 Spiritual Life Institute

DR. GEORGE F. MacLEOD, founder and leader of the Iona Community, Scotland, will be the Danforth Visiting Lecturer in the 69th Annual Spiritual Life Institute on the Bridgewater College campus, February 11-13, 1964.

The Institute's other distinguished leaders include Dr. Warren F. Groff, dean of Bethany Theological Seminary, and Dr. Ernest Bruder, chaplain of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Washington, D. C.

Dr. MacLeod will give four lectures in the two days he is on campus, speaking in the student convocation and to the Institute in the morning and on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. The theme of his messages will be on "The Church: Its Unity and Holiness."

Educated at Oxford and Edinburgh he has held pastorates in Edinburgh and Glasgow and in 1957-58 was Moderator of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland. Dr. MacLeod is a chaplain to Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth, and since 1938 has been leader of the Iona Community, a Presbyterian brotherhood of ministers and craftsmen restoring the ruined Abbey, founded by St. Columba on a west Scottish island.

Bridgewater is one of only seventeen colleges and universities in America privileged to have this distinguished Danforth Visiting Lecturer on his present tour.

Dr. Groff not only distinguished himself as a professor of profound Biblical interpretation when on the Bridgewater campus, but last year was installed as dean of the Bethany Theological Seminary as well as continuing his classroom excellence. He has represented his denomination at a number of theological conferences in this country and abroad.

Dr. Bruder is also on the faculty of Wesley Seminary, American University, and is in great demand as a personal counselor and a sought-after leader of ministers and others dealing with personal relationships. Opportunities will be given for "talk-back" and conferences with the Institute leaders.

Rev. Curtis Dubble has been asked to be the Institute director of worship. Nelson T. Huffman will direct the music, using the College Chorale and other groups. A special luncheon for women will be provided on Wednesday.

The Spiritual Life Institute will open on Tuesday evening, February 11 and will run through the Thursday evening lecture of Dr. MacLeod.

Because of the distinguished visiting lecturers, it is expected that there will be a record attendance. Only advance registration and housing reservations will be adequate to meet the expected demand. Programs and registration blanks will go to all pastors early next month.

On August 14, 1936, he was married to his college sweetheart, Alice R. Tucker '31BA, of Petersburg, Va. They have one child, Carolyn, who is a senior this year at Bridgewater College.

B. C. ELEVEN CLOSE WITH WIN OVER R-M

Bridgewater's grid team, lacking the needed offense punch, settled for a 2-4-1 season record. Opening with a scoreless tie with Western Maryland College on Riverside Field, the Keim-coached team let down to a strong Hampden-Sydney team in Death Valley.

In a revised schedule, the football team went on to give a good account of itself, losing to Delaware Valley (Doylestown, Pa.) 13-8 at Homecoming, Frostburg College (13-12), and Shepherd College (13-0). They found themselves against Gallaudet College, running up a score of 26 to 14.

The Eagles closed the season with a flourish by downing Randolph-Macon at Ashland by a score of 16-12, for the second straight year.

Again this year, the squad gained in depth. More than forty men were carried on the roster throughout the season. Cocaptain Charles Rider, Vernon Dutterar, Herb Griffith, Volney McClure, Nathan Miller, Bob Baker and others were standouts on the line. Quarterbacked by Jim Benson, the backfield got support from Roger Seale, Micky Caviness, Ralph Hicks and Cocaptain Wayne Latham. Perhaps one of the finest backs in years was Yager Marks, who was a consistent ground-gainer.

Injuries hurt B. C. this year from the very beginning when both first-string ends, Jerry Fawley and Jesse Fulk, were sidelined for the season. Among the freshmen who aided the Eagles materially were Tommy Hanback, Bill Stables, Mike Jacobs, Ronny Caricofe, Guy Stull, Ray Heatwole, Bill Dodds and Larry Barish.

B. C. RUNNERS WIN FOUR MEETS

Coach "Doc" Jopson's harriers, lacking the strong lead runner of former years, won four of their five dual meets, losing only to Washington & Lee. Hurt by the loss of ace runner Ronnie Coleman, sidelined after the second meet, the cross-country team depended on depth in the dual meets though only placing in the Little Eight, and Mason-Dixon Conference meets.

The team was led by "Porky" Bowser, captain; and Doug Shear, with the return of "Nellie" Warren and the work of Bill Beachy, Dean Carter, and Richard Neff.

The dual meets included wins over Old Dominion, Catholic U. (by the same score as last year, 31-24), Roanoke, and Lynchburg. They lost to Washington & Lee.

Both Bowser and Warren are seniors and will be lost to next year's cross-country squad.

B. C. Eaglettes Hostesses To Hockey Tourney

For the first time in years, the Blue Ridge Field Hockey Association two-day tournament was held on the Bridgewater College Riverside Field, November 8-9, with the B. C. Eaglettes serving as hostesses.

Twelve teams competing in the annual tournament were Campus Characters Club; Hollins; Junior College All-Stars; Lynchburg; Madison; Mary Baldwin; Randolph-Macon Women's College; Roanoke; Shenandoah Valley Club; Sweet Briar; and both the B. C. Varsity and Junior Varsity.

Each team played two games. While the schedule was being played, judges selected the best players

BASKETBALL SEASON UNDER WAY

The 1963-64 version of the B. C. Basketball Eagles are out to better their 6-13 season of last year. Coach Melvin "Shifty" Myers made the initial call on October 15 for veterans and invited freshmen. Since then others have joined the squad to bring the group to its maximum strength.

Spirit earmarks this year's team with the loss of many lettermen of former years. Height is another missing factor, but there is a determined hustle by each member of the squad with every position open for grabs.

Returning this year to the roundball court are lettermen Joe Browder, Paul Hatcher, Jim Peake and Murray Ross. Moving up from the J. V.'s are tall John Erb and Mike Lindsey. Promising freshmen include Jim Hawley, Ken Brady, Tommy Harris, Mike Nunnally, Tommy Anderson, Al Morrow and Ben Brown. The Roanoke and Northern Virginia areas are supplying the bulk of the squad with five each.

Coach Myers plans to interchange freshman players on the J. V. squad to the Varsity in an attempt to add experience and depth to future Varsity teams. At the beginning of the second semester, outstanding freshmen will be moved up to the Varsity roster as the need arises.

In the opening game, Nov. 23, the veteran Alumni team won over the Varsity, 83-72.

On Friday and Saturday, January 3-4, the Eagle team will be hosts to Concord College (W. Va.), Elizabethtown College (Pa.) and Frostburg College (Md.) in a Holiday Basketball Tournament sponsored by the Bridgewater Rotary Club. All games will be open to the general public and will be played in the B. C. gymnasium.

Alumni Giving Program In High Gear

A program to stimulate the largest Bridgewater alumni giving in history is under way. To carry out the goals set by the Alumni Association Board of Directors, every effort is being made to break all B. C. records in alumni giving.

The goals announced by the Board include reaching a total amount of $104,000 in support of Bridgewater College before June 30, 1964. More important, the participation goal has been set at 50% of all alumni giving something. The slogan adopted is "A Thousand and More Giving in '64."

To achieve this goal, Alumni President Everette L. May '34BA appointed Robert L. Houff '45BA as the national Bridgewater Alumni Fund General Chairman. In the Alumni Officers' Workshop, held on campus in early September, he urged all chapters to appoint a chapter Alumni Fund Chairman to direct the effort to get all members of the local chapter to contribute.

In a similar meeting with representatives of classes to be in reunion next spring, Rev. Houff outlined the goals and plans, directing each reunion class to appoint its class Alumni Fund Chairman. Appointments of chapters and class Alumni Fund Chairmen is to be completed by January 1, 1964, and names reported to the Alumni Office.

One general mailing has already gone to all alumni with a second appeal scheduled for spring. Since Bridgewater College has received national recognition for its previous giving efforts, it is determined to repeat. However, the greatest weakness is in the percentage of alumni support and this year concentration is being put on raising the level from 22% to at least 50%. The dedication of each alumnus in his own loyal support is needed in this giving program.

B. C. Alumni In Russian Orthodox Church Exchange

Raymond R. Peters '28BA

THE CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN and the Russian Orthodox Church have completed a two-way exchange. Six representatives of the Russian Orthodox Church were guests of the Church of the Brethren during the latter part of August and the first of September. Six Brethren served on the delegation the second part of the exchange and were guests of the Russian Orthodox Church October 5-19, 1963. The delegation included two Bridgewater College alumni: Dr. Raymond R. Peters '28BA, pastor of the Mack Memorial Church of the Brethren, Dayton, Ohio, and chairman of the Brethren Service Commission for the General Brotherhood Board; Dr. W. Harold Row '33BA, Executive Secretary of the Brethren Service Commission, who on behalf of the General Brotherhood Board carried the major responsibility in planning as well as executing the exchange. Dr. Row served as the official host to the Russian delegation, as well as carrying the major role with the Brethren delegation in Russia.

The stated purposes of the exchange were: (1) To establish a bridge of understanding between a Christian church in America and a Christian church in Russia; (2) To provide opportunity for the Church of the Brethren and the Orthodox Church of Russia to share concerns and viewpoints in reconciliation and international peace; (3) To emphasize a people-to-people type program in contrast to an exchange by "officials."

The delegation was received with warmth and shared in meaningful Christian fellowship. Even though there has been persecution of the church since the revolution in 1917 and many churches have been closed, worship continues in the churches. The facilities are taxed with the churches being well filled at all services. Since the state does not permit Christian education, great use is made of their liturgy and worship. The services are usually from two to three hours in length and in many cases services are held every day throughout the week. Often there are two services on Sunday. Also they make a great deal of their holydays at which time they pay tribute and honor to the saint that is remembered on a given day. It is estimated that approximately ten per cent of the population in the Soviet Union attend church each Sunday. This is a larger percentage church attendance than is found in western European countries. It is estimated that between 50 and 100 million persons belong to the Christian church, though perhaps more than half of these never attend except on Christmas and Easter.

The stated purpose of the Communist party is atheistic and hopes sometime to uproot organized

American delegation around the discussion table with Orthodox church official.

A Message to You

—Robert Earle Houff '45BA
Alumni Fund
General Chairman

"Bridgewater means more to each of us than we often are willing to admit. Most of us would not be as far along in life as we are if it were not for the education received and the impact of a Christian college atmosphere.

For this and even more we should be thankful. Our thankfulness should be expressed by every one of us making a financial contribution to the future of the college. Only 22% of you responded last year. This year we should reach at least a 50% level of alumni response. No matter how small your gift may be, give now in the spirit of Christmas sharing. Respond with many, "A Thousand More Giving in Sixty-Four."

Christianity. Some 2,000 churches have been closed since 1959 and there is some evidence of an increased anti-religion effort on the part of the state. Nevertheless, the Russian people are mystics and, therefore, worship deeply and have great faith in the power of the living Christ whom they encounter with deep meaning in their worship.

The Russian Orthodox Church, though a latecomer, is now very much interested in the ecumenical movement and has been a member of the World Council of Churches, even though they hold firmly to a conviction that the Orthodox Church is the true ancient, apostolic and New Testament church. They are willing to share in the life of the Council, believing that they have something to contribute and are also willing to learn from other Christians. Furthermore they feel now, and sense that perhaps in the future even more, they will need the support and fellowship of their Christian brothers in other lands. The World Council of Churches provides a channel through which they can develop this encounter and thus strengthen their role in the life of the body of Christ. The Brethren-Russian Orthodox Exchanges is in keeping with their stated interest in the ecumenical movement and desire for peace.

The delegates returned to the United States with a deep feeling that an abiding friendship has been established with some of the top leaders in the Russian Orthodox Church and that mutual prayers and continuing friendship will strengthen the ties of brotherhood. It was also our feeling that the exchange, although history, was only the beginning of what we hope will be a long and continuing relationship with our Christian brothers in the Soviet Union.

Bowmans Observe Golden Wedding Anniversary

President-emeritus and Mrs. Paul H. Bowman observed their 50th wedding anniversary on August 11-12, 1963, when their four children and thirteen of their grandchildren gathered from Kansas, North Carolina, Pennsylvania and New York.

On Sunday morning the families and relatives attended worship in the Bridgewater Church of the Brethren, occupying a special reserved section. In the evening the children arranged a special dinner in their honor in the Bridgewater College dining room. This climaxed a week-long family reunion which saw all but one grandson, Richard Bowman, of Merriam, Kansas, present. It was the first time that all had been together.

The daughters, Grace Bowman Koons and Rebecca Bowman Johnson, arranged a lovely open house and reception on Monday afternoon for the Bowmans' friends and neighbors.
